2. PRESENTER'S BACKGROUND

Moses is employed as SITA's Acting CEO and Chief: Strategic Services. His illustrious career at SITA started in March 2003. His areas of responsibility in the organisation has been diverse ranging from managing information systems development, to the Director: Projects Portfolio Planning, Monitoring and Reporting where he provided thought leadership in the discipline of project management within SITA. In 2006, Moses was appointed head of Department Business development where a primary task was to lead, conceptualise, develop and implement new products and services that SITA can offer to its clients. A year later, in November 2007, Moses was appointed to the position of Executive – Strategic Services and he currently serves as acting CEO.

Before joining SITA, Moses held various positions at Telkom, including senior project manager positions managing Telecommunications Infrastructure (Switching, Transmission, Access, Power, Buildings, Radio, DECT) and Regional Implementation Manager overseeing the implementation of Operations Support Systems. Prior to that, Moses also worked at the Gauteng Economic Development Agency (GEDA).

3. TITLE/TOPIC OF PRESENTATION

SITA: A decade of evolution – looking to the future

4. PRESENTATION SYNOPSIS/ABSTRACT

Brief summary of content and focus of the presentation:

The State Information Technology Agency (SITA) was established in response to public sector need and to address a gap within the ICT sphere within government. As a state-owned entity, SITA acknowledges that it is standing on the threshold of another watershed moment, given the expectations from citizens and the need to use information and communication technology (ICT) to deliver on government's agenda. This session will look at SITA's evolution, its changes and preparation for the road ahead, including lessons learnt, successes and challenges, as it looks to the next 10 years with excellence in mind. At the same time, the presentation will also honestly challenge the ICT sector to do its own assessment, on its role and contribution to the country.

Key points for discussion include:

- 1) SITA's evolution and journey to becoming Government's service provider of choice
- 2) SITA's successes, lessons learnt and new approach
- 3) Addressing challenges in the current economic environment
- 4) ICTs as a key tool to ensure that government does more, with less
